PAMA ANNOUNCES DETAILS ON THE UPCOMING NATIONAL AVIATION MAINTENANCE SYMPOSIUM

September 21, 2011 –The Professional Aviation Maintenance Association (PAMA) is pleased to announce their National Aviation Maintenance Symposium will be held in the Ann Arbor Michigan area at Eastern Michigan University on January 19th and 20th, 2012! The National Aviation Maintenance Symposium will feature exhibitors, speakers and presenters for aviation maintenance professionals. The Symposium will provide the opportunity for professional development, educational training and networking for managers and those who are pursuing a management career path.

This two day event will be held in conjunction with the Great Lakes Aviation Conference on Jan 20th and 21st.

Dale Forton, President of PAMA, commented on the upcoming Symposium:

"I am excited about this year's venue and to provide a symposium directed for all facets of the Aviation Maintenance Professionals. PAMA is looking forward to offering a cost effective and highly educational event for our Members as well as the entire aviation maintenance community."

The Symposium and the Conference will provide an opportunity for Airframe and Powerplant (A&P) certificate holders to renew their Inspection Authorization (IA) over three days.

Mr. Forton also highlighted the diverse educational opportunities available at the event:

"Throughout the two day Symposium, numerous training sessions will be held to update AMT's on current events affecting the industry."
